

Regularity of the score and convergence rates of generative diffusion models

Abstract : We show that diffusion-based generative models adapt to the smoothness of the target distribution : the learned score function inherits the target's regularity. Leveraging this adaptivity, we obtain a concise proof that diffusion models achieve minimax-optimal rates for density estimation.